Dr Sean Burnet

MBBS, FRANZCOG
Obstetrician & Gynaecologist

Dr Sean Burnet has been working in Obstetrics and Gynaecology in Sydney for more than thirteen years. He completed his training at the Royal Hospital for Women in Sydney.

He also completed a Fellowship in Advanced Laparoscopic and Pelvic Surgery in Western Sydney at Sydney West Advanced Pelvic Surgery Unit (SWAPS).

Dr Burnet is involved in the lecturing and teaching of medical students at both the University of Sydney and the University of NSW. He has a number of appointments at both private and public hospitals. He primarily does his Obstetrics at the Mater Hospital.

Dr Burnet ensures his patients receive a personalised service and caps the number of Obstetric patients he cares for to ensure this is achieved. He has experience looking after high risk pregnancies and very much enjoys his work. This is demonstrated in his approach to his patient care.
